

Dr. John X. Evans

USA

Professor of English literature

University:

Arizona State University

Professor of English Literature and Humanities (em.)

Academic background:

Ph.D. Yale University

Discipline:

English literature and humanities

Other functions (selection):

Founder and Executive Director, The Phoenix Institute; senior member of summer session faculty. Member, Academic Advisory Board of the Phoenix Institute

Publications (selection):

- The Works of Sir Roger Williams (Oxford: The Clarendon Press, 1972)
- ‘Jacques Maritain, Heroic Humanism, and the Gospel,’ in The Failure of Modernism”
- “The Imitation of Self: Milton and the Christ of Paradise Regained” in Religion and the Arts (2003).
- Works include articles in The Huntington Library Quarterly, Shakespeare Quarterly, English Studies, Recusant History, National Review, and other academic journals.

Courses taught at the Phoenix Institute:

Heroism in Western Culture, University of Notre Dame, 1991-present; Gaming, Austria, 2005

E-mail: john.evans@asu.edu